

Originally he wanted to call it
Professor McTim's Funtime Doodler,

but calmer heads prevailed.

Yep, that was a close one, but we talked some sense into him. You really can't blame him though, the guy spends twelve hours a day holed up in his little office-lab desperately trying to come up with ways to improve the already perfect multitool. It's all we can do to get him to go out to lunch with us. It is his name on the product though, so we understand his obsession with making each one perfect, even if it's at the cost of his interpersonal communication skills and social life.

LEATHERMAN®
Leatherman Tool Group, Inc.